

ABSTRACT

An electrochemical detection system which specifically detects selected nucleic acid segments is described. The system utilizes biological probes which are 5 complementary to and specifically hybridize with selected nucleic acid segments in order to generate a measurable current when an amperometric potential is applied. The electrochemical signal can be quantified.